Million Dollar Industry Looms As Simpson Produce Opens Up

A new industry, which, at full operating capacity, will spend a million dollars annually with the farmers in this area, is gaining full steam out Simpson's Produce way. Next Thursday, October 16 at 4:30 p. m. the official opening of the plant will be held when high officials interested in poultry raising will be in attendance to launch a full scale program of poultry processing in this vicinity.

Just about a year ago Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, together with the Reed Brothers, Joe Mac and Seldon, opened a little poultry processing plant in South Fulton, Tennessee, just over the Kentucky border. The first week of their operation, with their obsolete hand-operated machinery the plant turned out 192 chickens fully dressed, eviscerated and ready for the market. It was intended as a small marketing service for the grocerymen in this area to have freshly killed chickens every day.

Today, things are different out there. Within the past year the operators have purchased a Barker poultry processing machine which has a capacity of turning out 600 processed birds per hour. The birds, from the moment they are shackled to the chains are rarely touched by human hands. Significant in the opening of the new plant is that it opens up a tremendous new field of money endeavor for farmers in this area. Heretofore only a few farmers in this area have devoted any effort 9000; Cecil Pierce, 9000; J. E. Thomason, 6000; Joe Mac Reed, 3300 and S. C. Sandlund, 4000. There are several other small producers.

The public and especially farmers who are interested in poultry raising is invited to the opening station again to see the operation of the plant.

The entire processing operation is centered around an enclosed track, containing a roller chain from which shackles are suspended every six inches. This continuous line runs from the feeding station through the dressing room, on through an opening in the wall into the eviscerating room and back out to the feeding station again so that birds are not removed from the line from the time they are hung on it alive until they are removed dressed and ready for shipment.

Birds are hung on the shackles by the feet and travel a short distance where they are kosher killed. The line then carries them into the dressing room where they pass through a 30-foot sectional scalding machine which is thermostatically controlled to hold the temperature of the water at from 122 to 124 degrees. After passing through the scalding, the birds go through an eight foot slanting drum picker. This picker has rubber fingers about 12 inches long that run at 350 revolution per minute and remove the body feathers from the bird. In the next step, the birds pass through a six foot reversible picker where the fingers rotate in the first machine. This picker takes off the pin feathers so that the birds are ready for the neck and wing stripper which removes the flight feathers from the wings (Continued on page 12)

CITY COUNCIL DISCUSSES PARK

At the regular meeting of the Fulton City Council held Monday night, field representatives from several of the civic clubs composing the Citizens Committee were present to discuss Fulton's proposed municipal park, which is to be constructed at the site of the old Fairgrounds.

The City Clerk, Miss Martha Smith, was instructed to write to several bonding companies requesting information for the financing of the proposed projects, which include a swimming pool, a new Kitty League park, playground and softball diamond. Much enthusiasm was manifested by those present in these projects and it is hoped that plans for the financing of them will materialize at an early date. It is possible that revenue bonds will be issued to cover the cost of the swimming pool.

Also, the Council passed a traffic ordinance to make Walnut Street and Cleveland Avenue intersection a four-way stop as a safety measure to protect children attending Terry-Norman School.

Plans are under way to have safety islands constructed at the Walnut Street-Lake Street intersection in front of the City Drug Company. The State Highway Department has undertaken this project.

Fulton County Gives Adlai 2 to 1 Majority In News' Straw Vote

High Percentage Of Saturday Shoppers From Out-of-Town

Here's some news for Mr. Fulton Merchant. Saturday while the News' pollsters were conducting a mock election on Lake Street in downtown Fulton the voting place of the passers-by was asked. Of the persons contacted 40 per cent were persons shopping in Fulton from nearby counties. The counties of Graves, Weakley, Obion, and Hickman were well represented on the streets of Fulton Saturday. Many persons from those counties carried bundles from local stores indicating the popularity of Fulton as a central shopping center.

In another tabulation it was learned that out of a group of ten persons contacted to vote three were tourists from other States who had parked in downtown Fulton to do some shopping. This reveals a percentage of thirty.

BIG FIRE RAZES OFFICE BUILDING

Damage estimated by Fulton fire department officials at $125,000 resulted from a midnight blaze Tuesday night that swept through three downstairs business buildings and damaged a fourth as well as wrecking extensive damage to offices on the second floor over the burned-out stores.

Fire trucks from Union City, Martin and Mayfield joined the two Fulton pumper trucks in battling the blaze in the Carr building on Lake Street.

Burned out were the Fry Shoe Store, Warren Jewelry Store and the J. B. Casey barber shop. Also damaged from smoke and water was the Evans Drug Co. while damage also was sustained by upstairs offices of Attorney Frank Carr; Dr. B. L. Davis, chiropractor, and the Democratic headquarters.

A previous fire had occurred in the building at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, in the Casey barber shop, but Fulton fire department officials were reported not to attribute any connection with the earlier fire to the midnight alarm which was received in Fulton at 12:28 a. m. Wednesday morning.

Democrat Offices In New Location

Because of the disastrous fire in the Carr Building early Wednesday morning, the offices of Fulton County Democrats have been moved to the Cohn Building in the office formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. Hancock.

Al T. Owens and Mrs. William McDade are in charge of Democratic activities in Fulton.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Reid have moved to Terre Haute, Ind., to make their home.

Fulton County, an important cog in the Big Wheel of Kentucky's Democratic stronghold—the First District—gave approximately a two to one majority to the party's nominee for President in a mock election conducted by the Fulton County News last Saturday on Lake Street in downtown Fulton. Of the nearly 200 votes cast by farmers, businessmen, railroad workers, factory workers and women the vote tabulated like this:

For Stevenson	101
For Eisenhower	57
For Underwood	80
For Cooper	28
Not Registered	15
Undecided—Democrats	24
Don't like what they got—either party	1

The polling place was set up in front of the City Drug Company and the Fulton Bank and a sealed ballot box was placed on a voting table. Voters were asked if they voted in Fulton County and if so handed a ballot to vote secretly. Absolutely no attempt was made on the part of the pollsters to influence the balloting.

The foregoing vote is the total of all votes cast and indicates that many voters showed their preference in the Presidential races but did not bother to vote in the Senatorial race. Of several voters questioned in this respect it was learned that the senatorial candidates are little known and no interest is being shown them for election in that race. An official ballot, however, may show a more complete interest in that race.

The breakdown of voting by parties tabulated this way:

For President and Senator
Straight Democratic ticket by Democrats	67
Straight Republican ticket by Republicans	10
Democrats for Republican ticket	11
For President Only
Democrats for Stevenson	27
Democrats for Eisenhower	19
Republicans for Eisenhower	3

Political Campaign More Than Question of Personalities; Eisenhower Out of Character

A political campaign is more than a question of personalities. In a national campaign there are fundamental principles and issues at stake — great questions of both domestic and foreign policy to decide. Nevertheless, the candidates a party chooses to represent them are an important element in a campaign and reveal a great deal about the party. Democrats are very proud of their candidates — Governor Stevenson and Senator Suarman — two outstanding men with outstanding records of public service.

One of the most frequent questions one hears from Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike is: "What has happened to General Eisenhower?" Once a national hero, a man of considerable stature in the eyes of almost all Americans, he has, since his entry into the political arena, apparently lost his self-confidence, his "distinctive" personality. The answer is that the Gen. as a political candidate is beyond his depth, floundering about with neither the convictions nor the background necessary for a Presidential candidate — a man suffering acutely from the GOP schizophrenia (split personality).

Look at his extreme conservatism and his ignorance of many of the major problems facing us today. In 1949 while he was President of Columbia University the General said: "If all that Americans want is security they can go to prison. They will have enough to eat, a bed and a roof over their heads." This point of view appeared over and over again in the General's speeches before June of 1952 — let's get back to the good old days of rugged American individualism. It is significant to note that the General has consistently opposed Federal aid to education. As a result, this year (as opposed to 1948) the GOP platform specifically states that financing of education is the responsibility of the States alone. To all parents, this retreat from the 1948 GOP platform which supported Federal aid to education, this retreat which is directly attributed to Eisenhower's insistence, must be of particular significance.

With respect to foreign policy, one hears the point of view: "Well, at least no matter who wins the election, our foreign policy is safe." — But look to whom General Eisenhower is turning — is wowing — the Old Guard — Jenner, Taft — the men who have deliberately tried to sabotage our foreign policy. And look what General Eisenhower himself did about the program we all thought he believed in — Mutual Security Assistance. In May of 1952 during the hot Congressional debate over MSA appropriations, General Eisenhower said that a billion dollar cut would be seriously felt and would require drastic replanning of the entire program. In addition, a cut of over one billion would be catastrophic. When the General came back to the United States, he denied ever having said that a billion dollar cut would cause serious difficulty — and what is more serious — the budget was actually cut almost two billion dollars and he never said a word.

General Eisenhower is suffering from GOP schizophrenia. Without deep convictions of his own or the adequate background to arrive at intelligent conclusions, he is being pulled in at least two directions simultaneously.

Now — as to his running mate — the junior Senator from California — the record is clear. Here is someone who represents some of the worst aspects of the GOP. His voting record in the Congress and the Senate shows a consistently reactionary line.

Of real importance is the fact that this man owes his political success to his use of McCarthy tactics.

In 1946 Nixon ran against Representative Jerry Voorhees, not on the issues, but by labeling Voorhees as the "CIO" candidate, when Voorhees did not even have CIO support. His 1950 campaign against Helen Douglas was based again, not on the issues, but on completely false charges of Mrs. Douglas' softness toward communism, and implying that she was not well.

It should not be forgotten that Nixon authorized the "Mundt-Nixon Bill" which was denounced even by Thomas Dewey as "thought control".

The recent revelation that Nixon has accepted between eighteen and nineteen thousand dollars in gifts from a small group of wealthy Californians (and did not bother to pay income tax on them) was a shocking example of a complete lack of ethics on the part of the GOP Vice-Presidential candidate, something we have suspected for a long time from his record. We are sure there are millions of women who would like full-time maids and large entertainment budgets — which is where a large share of the pay-off money is said to have gone — but no woman would want these things at the expense of her husband's integrity. And we are sure the women of this country will not be able to vote for a Republican Party which makes such pious protestations about corruption, and then turns around to select a candidate who by this one incident proves he is unfit to hold any public office.

By selling out to the reactionary wing of his party and by accepting Richard Nixon as a running mate, General Eisenhower has sacrificed consistency and principle for political advantage.

The contrast between the General and Governor Stevenson is sharp and clear. General Eisenhower is a military man, easily swayed by those around him and without experience or background which would qualify him for the Presidency. Governor Stevenson, a man with civilian administrative experience, is a liberal leader with practicality plus vision. The job sought him, because he is the man for the job.

So far, in none of his speeches that we know of his Governor Stevenson talked of anything but the real issues as he sees them. He has not joined with political scoundrels just for the sake of campaign expediency. Of the General we cannot say as much as we note that Senator Joe McCarthy, the most radical rabble-rouser of all times, has joined the Eisenhower train. Any old friend in a storm just to get elected.

Indeed there will be a change under General Eisenhower. A change to the policies of Taft, Jenner, and McCarthy; isolationism; patronage for the capitalists; and with it all the one thing in mind . . . let the Republicans win in November and the little man be damned.

Our Job Is Service To This Community

This week is being observed throughout America as National Newspaper Week and with this seven day commemoration to the press, the News emerges on its fifth year of publication.

It is an impossibility for us to express our appreciation of your whole-hearted acceptance of our publication. We do however, want to assure our readers that we feel, as we have from the day the first issue of the News rolled off the press, the responsibility of a newspaper to the community which it serves.

We have never pretended to be that which we are not. The News is an independent publication which does not deal in colored journalism. We offer our readers a sincere, truthful and accurate account of the news without the use of smear tactics to repay contributors or tirades against fellow citizens to satisfy personal whims and deflated egos.

It is with a sense of fair play, impartiality and decency that we begin our fifth year of Community service and, it is our desire that the News shall continue to serve as an inspiration to the citizens of every community in Fulton County.

Sermonette of the Week

AMERICAN EDUCATORS DEMAND RETURN TO GOD

(By the Most Rev. James H. Ryan)

THE NEED for moral training in the American school is compelling school administrators to rethink the relationship between religion and American education.

The issue is too serious to be treated casually. Sincere Americans favor a return to the American tradition of making religion an integral part of education.

FOR SOME REASON, however, the typical American school official loses all historical sense when he discusses the nature and origin of the public school itself. He affirms, over and over again, that the school must be secular, and the religion has no place in it.

One gets the impression that the American people set about deliberately to eliminate religion from American education.

Nothing could be further from the truth. THE FOUNDERS of this Nation, the noble men and women who endowed it with traditions, had no intention of secularizing American education. When they made the financial support of the school a function of local government, they acted for good reason.

They insisted upon the local control of education so that they could be assured of the continued existence of what they regarded as the most important element in the school program, the religious and moral training of their children.

THE AMERICAN TRADITION is that every school promote respect for religion. This nation was conceived and brought forth by men of profound religious convictions. In the providence of God this nation has prospered so that it is acknowledged by almost all other nations to be the beneficiary of God's choicest blessings.

It remains to be seen whether the nation's children can reach the high destiny ordained for them by Almighty God. Much will depend upon the fidelity of the schools to the American tradition of respect for religion.

LET THE SCHOOLS be closed on important religious holidays. Let the children be excused to assist at church services. Let the name of God be respected within the precincts of every American school.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

Periodically working reporters come up against a tough and serious controversial question which really taxes the honest newsman's earnest desire to be as objective as possible.

One of these occasions for political reporters comes every four years. We may go through annual, local, or state-wide elections without having our sentiments or our prejudices either involved or very much bothered.

To working reporters, particularly political writers, a presidential election year is something else entirely. The reporters referred to are, of course, only those honest ones who work for newspapers or broadcasting networks of integrity — the ones who want the news covered completely, adequately, and as objectively as possible.

A presidential election is a severe trial to reporters. We try to stay objective, at least as objective as our heredity and environment, and unbringing and teaching allow us to be. But our own prejudices are bound to crop in to things.

Two sincere reporters can cover the same political speech and hear identical words spoken by the same man with the same inflection, and honestly have entirely different ideas about what was important in that speech — or even what was said.

Newspapers and radio and television provide us with means of being better informed than any people ever were at any time in the history of the world. This great mass of the means of communication also constitutes a very real danger. We, the American people, can be misguided and misled more easily today than ever before.

That's why it is important this election for every voter who intends to cast a ballot to read with care what the candidates say — not just what a reporter writes that he said. It is important for you to listen to what they say for themselves on radio and where there is television, to see the men and hear them and decide for yourself whether they are honest and sincere, or if they're trying to put something over on you.

Honest reporters always have a difficult task, because the funny little prejudices we pick up in life have a nasty way of getting in our way and tripping us up. So far in this campaign every effort has been made to be scrupulously honest in every word that went into this space. Prejudice may have dictated some of the ideas — no doubt actually did dictate some of them — but the effort has been made.

And for the few weeks remaining the yardstick of truthfulness and accuracy against which every word is measured will be tougher and more rigid than ever. Because this is a time of crisis and decision. And when the shouting and voting are all over, we may find that it wasn't as serious as all that, after all.

The Purchase, one of Kentucky's six physical regions, gets its name from the fact that it was purchased from the Chickasaw Indians.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Dear Jo:

This is just going to be a note this week because there isn't much going on.

The Junior Hi football team played their first game for the year Tuesday at Mayfield. We lost the game 18 to 2, but I thought we really played a good game. They just made a few touchdowns. Our new Junior Hi Cheerleaders did a fine job too.

We had two picture shows last Friday; the first one was about the work of a tugboat and the other about the animals in a zoo. Because of a teachers' meeting in Murray (for which I'm very thankful) Friday, October 10, we get out of school all day.

Carr Institute has had its roof tarred. It was quite a job and many of the little kids had a lot of fun watching.

On Monday Junior Hi had a pep meeting and you would have really heard some yelling if you had been there.

Your friend,
Ella Doyle.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST

(Maxine Erwin)

The Seventh-day Adventist parochial school, located on Jefferson Street is well under way. We have eighteen students in grades one to six.

The new addition to our school is nearly finished which makes it much larger and more convenient. We are hoping to arrange a library corner in our room where we can do research and recreational reading. Also we are planning on having some new bulletin boards made in the near future.

We are proud of the progress our school has made in the past two years.

A visitor to our school last week was Prof. Mahr of Nashville.

On last Friday our teacher, Miss Carol Stern, carried the school on a picnic. We all had a very nice time.

CHEER LEADERS

Earl Lee Gordon

Two weeks ago, the students of Milton School walked into a new building. There were beautiful apple green walls, and dark green woodwork. Our floors are beautiful tan tile bordered in dark green. The hall, cloak-rooms, and rest room floors are dark green tile.

We have two back-doors with plate glass and panic hardware, concrete steps with metal rails. Our roofs are completely guttered with tile going into the ground, to keep the water away from the building.

We have beautiful green slate boards bound with aluminum and aluminum chalk rails.

Our back doors are equipped with canopies covered with asphalt shingles. The building has been insulated and will have an oil furnace. A large furnace and building.

We have storm doors at our storage room was added to our front entrance equipped with panic hardware. Our inside front doors are syringing plate glass.

We have a 1000 gallon oil tank. We are very proud of our new building, and there is so much to tell about it that I can't tell it all.

DETROIT NEWS

Mrs. Claud Fields

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Coplen and daughter, Tresa, spent Sunday and Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Claud Fields, and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hopkins and family of Detroit have moved to Kentucky to make their home. Mr. Hopkins will be employed at Paducah, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Vodie Floyd and Bill are in Detroit, the men are working at construction work for a few weeks.

Mr. Claud Fields has been put on the night shift for a few weeks, we are afraid he will find it difficult trying to sleep days.

We were very glad to hear that Mrs. Bertha Fields was able to be dismissed from the hospital and is home again. Welcome home, Bertha!

We also wish Mr. Bobby Yates a speedy recovery at Memphis, Tenn., who underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Raelant called on Mr. and Mrs. Claud Fields last week. Enroute over they had a wreck. Their new Ford was damaged very badly, but no one was hurt.

At the time of this writing, the weather is very cool in Detroit, guess it won't be too long till we will be shoveling snow.

In this writing.

Our superintendent, Mr. Holland, visited us Monday and brought us a new basketball and football. We are very proud of them and we thank him very much. He never forgets us at ball season.

BILL OF HARRIS FORK

Human nature being what it is, then a good place to study it is in a passenger car on a railroad, such as, and I am speaking of the natives of the four corners of these United States, not the new arrivals from elsewhere.

We have the dam Yankees of the North; the cotton pickers of the South; and then the natives of my country, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and west of the Great Divide where men are men and the women are proud of them.

Each of these sections have their characteristics, each different from the others, each bred of the climate and environment of the locality. The real cattlemen of the West are a fine breed of men who know their cattle, know every water hole on the vast range, know the wiley ways of the wolf and coyote and mountain lion. I could go on and on but that's enough except that they never appreciate anyone who tries to dig into their private affairs and will resent it. Which brings me to the tale of a nosy man on the train.

Coming down on a train from Paducah a few evenings ago a portly stockman, dressed in a light colored corduroy suit that western stockmen affect, sat in the seat ahead of me. Across the aisle sat a couple of workmen and they became quite curious as to what this man represented, he being dressed so different from our own natives. The stockman sat very quiet, looking straight ahead saying nothing to anybody. Those two birds stood it just as long as they could, finally the man in the end of the seat leaned over towards the stockman and said, "Excuse me mister, but where are you from?" The stockman never so much as batted an eye said, "Saskatoon, Saskatchewan". The guy looked at his partner, his partner looked at him and both looked puzzled. Then the first one couldn't stand it any longer leaned over and asked the man, "Where did you say you were from?" Without moving an eyebrow he answered, "Saskatoon, Saskatchewan". Gosh that was too much for the questioner and he and his partner looked at each other then the first one said, "He's nuts."

Eddie Copple is a Conductor on the Blufford District of the Illinois Central. And it is well known that Eddie never speaks unless it is necessary. Flagman Tom Forehand said one day, "Now everybody says that Eddie Copple never talks but I know better". We were laying over in Blufford and I went bird hunting and the next morning we were getting ready to leave town and I was telling Eddie about hunting birds. Just a year to the day I went into the caboose and Eddie said, "How do you cook 'em". Now this is concrete evidence that Eddie does talk.

—Bill of Harris Fork.

Feed Prices Too High... Farmers Take Action—Slash Southern States Prices!

Farmers are squeezed by feed prices that are too high in relation to prices received for meat, milk and eggs. The farmers who own and use Southern States Cooperative—272,000 strong—are doing something about it.

Southern States Cooperative has made a sharp reduction in its mixed feed prices—is pricing them at less than actual cost.

Southern States Service Agencies, working hand in hand with the farmers they serve, have reduced their handling margins to approximate actual cost. The result is a reduction of $4.00 to $5.00 per ton (20 to 25 cents per bag) in Southern States feeds which were already low in price as compared with commercial feed of comparable quality.

This program of self-help by farmers will continue until it forces the price of commercial formula feeds to a more reasonable level from the standpoint of farmers. A big crop of corn and other feed grains will soon be pressing on the market. This also should help.

Support this cooperative effort to pull down the too high price level on mixed feeds—save real money too by using quality feeds cooperatively manufactured by farmers in their own mills. See us for details. You'll be amazed at the new low Southern States feed prices.

makes the Heart grow Fonder

You'll discover this about a Buick:
The more you drive it, the more you like it; the longer your trip, the louder your praise.
That's what people tell us. And we'll tell you why.
You can drive a Buick three, four, five hundred miles in a single day, and feel fresh enough to keep right on going.
You can romp up high hills, cruise straightaways, ease through traffic-tangled towns, clock off hour after hour of relaxed and pleasurable driving—and be no more tired than a neighborhood jaunt would make you.
How come this comfort-rich ground-covering ability in a Buick?

There's the ease of deep, soft seats for one thing—and plenty of move-about room for arms, legs, shoulders.
There's Dynaflo Drive* taking all the chore out of driving, and giving your whole ride a satiny smoothness without trace of jerkiness or driving tension.
There's a hoodful of thrilling, tireless power from a high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball 8 Engine that whips out miles like a tarpon reels off line.
There's the soft, steady, solid, swerve-free going of a coil-spring-cushioned ride that's well worth the million-plus dollars it cost to engineer.
There's all this and more—much more—that makes your heart grow fonder of this trim and thrifty traveler.

But words can't do justice to a Buick in motion. Only you can.
When will you come sample this experience yourself?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. †Optional at extra cost.

CAPITAL Roundup

DEDICATION SET

The new $6,000,000 Capitol Annex Building — recently occupied by Departments of Economic Security, Conservation, Finance and Revenue — will be officially dedicated Wednesday, October 8. The dedicatory address will be made by United States Senator Earle C. Clements under whose administration the building was started. Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby will discuss "Kentucky's Building Program."

BOARD NAMED

Lieut. Gov. Emerson Beauchamp of the Legislative Research Commission, named an Advisory Committee of eleven persons, headed by Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler to make a study on educational needs, in conjunction with the Legislative Research Commission, with a view of presenting a "minimum" foundation program of education in event a proposed Constitutional Amendment is ratified changing the present method of distributing the school fund.

POLICE GROUP NAMED

Governor Wetherby named a four-man State Police Personnel Board to adopt rules and regulations governing personnel policies for the State Police Department with the idea of concentrating on a genuine merit system in the agency. The appointees serve along with the State Police Commissioner in determining policies. Appointed were two Democrats — Norman A. Chrisman, Pikeville, insurance man; Robert Graham, Bowling Green, hotel operator — and two Republicans — John Kerr, Jr., Lexington, and Sheridan C. Barnes, Elizabethtown, insurance agents. Board members receive $25 a day for each meeting they attend, plus travel allowance.

ROAD INCOME DOWN

Kentucky's general road fund income for the first two months of the fiscal year beginning July 1 totaled $29,316,516 during the fiscal year by $228,485.

Discussing revenue trends, Commissioner of Revenue H. Clyde Reeves said that receipts indicated Kentuckians "are consuming less whiskey and more beer, attending fewer movies, making higher wagers at the race tracks."

INSURANCE BENEFITS HIGH

O. B. Hannah, State Director of Unemployment Insurance, reported that unemployment insurance benefits for August — totaling $1,846,368 — set a record-high total, reflecting the July heavy claims load — and a lag in actual payments behind the filing date. However, there were only 7,969 new jobless claims filed in August compared with 20,465 filed in July — reflecting settlement of the steel strike.

SERVICE DECLINED

Attorney General J. D. Buckman, Jr., declined the use of his services to defend a group of Alcoholic Beverage Control Board agents who were arrested in Breckinridge County after a raid on a veterans' clubhouse. Buckman suggested that private attorneys should be employed, in view of the fact that, if convicted, it would be the duty of his office to represent the prosecution on appeal.

DISPUTE ARISES

Dispute arose in official circles here over whether comparative voter registration signature books are available for public inspection. Assistant Attorney General Walter Herdman said that the 1952 law barred inspection of the records to anyone other than local boards of registration and purgation. Attorney General Buckman expressed a contrary view, as did Harris W. Coleman, Louisville attorney, who assisted in drafting the law.

SEEIN' DOUBLE

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD MOBILIZES FOR BIG DRIVE TO VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Forty thousand Illinois Central Railroad employees are not "letting George do it" when it comes to encouraging intelligent voting in the National elections on November 4.

The Illinois Central campaign has been progressively gathering steam throughout the company's 14-state territory. Voting guides and booklets on the subject of voting have been distributed to Illinois Central employees. Company bulletin boards bristle with posters with the theme "Let's All Register and Vote." Posters and car cards have been placed in the railroad's passenger trains and stations. Meal checks in Illinois Central dining cars carry a message emphasizing the importance of every vote.

The importance of voting was the subject of a letter from President Wayne A. Johnston to the Illinois Central organization. Voting has been the theme of Illinois Central officers in talks and radio appearances. Good citizenship is the feature article in the current issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. The current advertisement in the railroad's 33-year-old institutional series is aimed at the importance of ballot box participation in government.

During the week preceding the elections all employees are taking part in a tag and button campaign to turn out the vote on election day. Pertinent messages on voting are being carried in the moving message on the Illinois Central's huge electric sign atop Central Station in Chicago.

The campaign was launched last April with a tag day alerting employees and the public to vote in the primary elections. Approximately 10,000 employees at Chicago wore tags reading, "I Will Vote Tomorrow! Will You?"

President Johnston, commenting on the Illinois Central program, said:

"The ballot box is our first line of defense of family, home and church. I can think of nothing more important than to vote and to know what we are voting for."

The highest point in Kentucky is Big Black Mountain in Harlan county. It stands 4,150 feet above sea level.

A LETTER FROM GEN. LYNCH

The Honorable Thomas J. Lynch, general counsel for the treasury department, wrote me to this extent saying, it was a hard letter you wrote tearing the administration to pieces about having a law that will throw employees in jail if they do not collect government insurance from employees by force, no matter whether the employee wants to pay it or not and to discharge them if they do not accept the deduction. Or in case of a self employed person if they do not pay this government insurance that their business will be confiscated and they will be thrown in jail. Remember this sir, that every senator and congressman you have from Mississippi supported this bill. Our place is to see to it being enforced.

Congressman Ralph Gwinn of New York, who is my personal friend and easily one of the outstanding congressmen of the nation told me a few days ago that the government had collected 90 BILLION OF DOLLARS for this insurance and there was none of it left with which to pay the insured. In other words the government has squandered all of this money and will have nothing to pay back with unless they tax us again to raise the money.

Senator Karl Mundt wrote me yesterday saying "on the matter of forcing the employers to work for nothing in collecting government money is quite a questionable procedure and some of the employers have bucked on this but the weight of the government was too much for them."

Adding "the only way to correct this is to have congress change the law. And to think that EVERY MEMBER IF CONGRESS FROM MISSISSIPPI VOTED FOR THIS ANTI FREE ENTERPRISE AND COMMUNISTIC LAW, of having to pay this government insurance or go to jail."

DOES IT MAKE A DIFFERENCE TO YOU

Citizens of our nation are being continually misled into supporting economic measures, which if the past has any significance, will bring them to poverty, distress and oppression, instead of the hoped for security.

Those who do this misleading, call themselves Liberals but who are continually advocating more and more government control and centralized government.

When I think of this security that is promised them I think of an oyster. The sea gives him the lime to build himself a shell and when he wants something to eat all he does is to open the shell that was given him. But who wants to be an oyster.

The eagle has been given only crags among which to live and needs to cover hundreds of miles a day to secure his living, but note—the eagle is our national emblem.

Apples By the Carload Roll Out Of Hastings' Orchard

(By Ouida Jewell)

It is generally understood that Carl Hastings of Fulton is the best fruit-grower in Kentucky, and he has proof that he is the best in the Western part of the state by a group of blue and red ribbons hanging on the wall of his fruit house, which were won at the recent West Kentucky Fair at Mayfield.

This year, the second year he has had entries in any fair, he came away with more ribbons than any other fruit grower. His beautiful apples and peaches won twelve first prizes (blue ribbons), and two second prizes (red ribbons).

The Hastings Orchard, which is one of the largest, and best cared for, in this section of the country, is located one and three-fourths miles northeast of Fulton on U. S. Highway 45. The orchard, which was started in 1930, consists of 20 acres of apples, and eight acres of peaches.

Upon graduation from Fulton High School, where Mr. Hastings was very active in sports, becoming a fruit grower was the farthest thing from his mind.

He wanted to be an Architectural Engineer and entered the Chicago Technical College. After receiving his degree in Architectural Engineering, he worked for a number of years with the Chicago City Board of Local Improvement in the Engineering Office. Also, for a while, he was with the Snow Construction Company in Chicago. Then he returned to Fulton. It was at this time that he planted the first ten acres of his orchard.

In a short time, he took a job in Portland, Oregon, with a construction company, building a two-billion dollar insulation board plant. This lasted for approximately two years, and in July, 1931, he and his wife, Betty, returned to Fulton to make their home on his 75-acre farm.

Mr. Hastings settled down to general farming and market gardening for a while, until his orchard began bearing. From that time on, he has continued to plant and replant until his orchard has grown into the fine one it is today. Now, Mr. Hastings, besides raising a few cattle, does nothing but care for his orchard—that taking up all of his time.

Mr. Hastings says that the success of his fruit growing is due, to a great extent, to the efficient help and management of his wife. Although the Fulton fruit-grower has become known all over the state because of his fine orchards, Mr. Hastings had never entered any of his prize apples and peaches in competition until he was urged to do so last year by the Graves County Agricultural Agent. As a result, last year at the West Kentucky Fair, he came away with about five blue ribbons and three red ones.

This is a busy time out at the Fall is good fishing time in Kentucky and boat dock facilities complete with plenty of fishing necessities are maintained at Kentucky Lake State Park, Kentucky Dam Village and Lake Cumberland State Park. Pictured here is a portion of the boat dock operated by the state at Kentucky Lake State Park.

Hastings Orchard, with the harvesting of fruit going on. Although this year's crop is the shortest one in the past ten years, Mr. Hastings is harvesting many, many bushels of fine apples and peaches.

The short crop this year was due to bloom and twig blight, and because there have been three broods of codling moths, instead of the usual two. This has caused Mr. Hastings and his workers to stay constantly busy spraying. This season the orchard has been sprayed fourteen times (at least every two weeks), while ordinarily it is only sprayed from ten to twelve times, which is more than the average fruit growers do, Mr. Hastings said.

Harvest time of late Summer varieties began the last of August and will run through October, and maybe November. Last year it ran through November, but this year it will probably end this month—that is if enough help can be secured.

Mr. Hastings said that help is getting so hard to get, that it looks as if he will have to give up his fruit growing. Ordinarily he has nine workers, besides his wife and himself, but at the present time he has only five.

The local grower sells all of his fruit from his road-side market and packing house. A lot of it is sold to trucks in wholesale lots.

The fruit house and grading room is fully equipped with a Niagara grading and brushing machine, and all other necessary modern equipment.

In the lower room (the basement) a small cold-storage is located, equipped with two five-horse-power air-cooled compressors.

There is a special built conveyor, which is used to carry fruit up or down from the first floor to the cold-storage.

Upstairs, in the packing room there is storage space for the cartons and other necessary things for packing apples.

Mr. Hastings has one of the most modern spray outfits for his orchard. The spray equipment consists of a John Bean 35-gallon-a-minute pump, with a 400-gallon capacity tank pulled by an International T-6 Caterpillar tractor.

With the apples which are too small for the market, Mr. Hastings makes delicious cider, which is sold at the road-side market.

Mr. Hastings is a very active member and officer of the Local Elks Lodge, having served as Exalted Ruler in 1939-40. He has been an officer in some capacity since that time and is now serving on the Board of Trustees.

His hobbies are hunting and fishing, having been active in sports all of his life. In high school he starred in track, polo vault, and baseball, and in college he played baseball, usually as pitcher or centerfielder.

Hastings Orchard is a favorite meeting place of the West Kentucky Fruit Growers when they hold their horticultural and fruit growers meetings.

Mr. Hastings says that he really likes the orchard business, and does not regret giving up his engineering career for it. His only regret is that help is getting so scarce that it is hard to carry on his business in the proper manner.

The new name of the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish is the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. A special act of the General Assembly created the title which went into official usage in June.

and the feathers from the neck. By this time the birds are almost completely dressed so they go through an eight foot finishing machine containing round, soft hollow fingers which does the final cleaning while water under high pressure is sprayed over the birds. The only feathers left on the bird by this time are a few around the hocks which are removed by a sixdrum machine with soft fingers which is known as a "garber stripper."

This completes the full automatic part of the dressing process. The birds have passed through six machines without being touched by any person. From here on, the operation requires the work of many people. The first person stands at a manual drum picker which sets under the line. As the birds pass by, they are held against this picker to remove any feathers which may have been missed.

The next step is the eviscerating table where women remove the viscera. The hearts and livers are also removed at the end of the table. The gizzards are removed and are dropped into a rough which carries them to a gizzard table. There the gizzards are opened by hand, the contents removed, and the gizzards thoroughly washed before they are run through a machine which skins them.

In completing the eviscerating process, the birds pass over a 16 foot drip trough where an inspector checks each bird individually both inside and out to see that they are thoroughly cleaned. The necks are then removed. By this time, women working at the giblet wrapping table have assembled the cleaned hearts, livers, and gizzards. The giblets are bagged in parchment paper bags and placed in the body cavity while the birds are still moving along on the line. The birds have now been on the processing and eviscerating line for a total of about 25 minutes. During this time, they have been killed, scalded, dressed, cleaned, eviscerated, and the giblets cleaned, bagged and placed back in the bird. The finished product is then cut off the line by cutting off the legs at the hock joint. After the feet are removed, the line passes where the process is repeated.

After being taken off the line, the birds are individually weighed so that they can be sized, and graded for quality. They are then iced and packed.

The plant employs four men and twelve women, and because of the inter-state nature of their activities pays the highest wage scale.

In attendance at the ceremonies next Thursday will be Al Livers of Evansville, Ind., a nationally known hatcheryman and Curt Stevenson, head of the broiler promotion department of the Purina Company.

COMBAT PAY DUE KOREAN VETERANS

Congress has recently passed a law authorizing hazardous duty pay for anyone who was under immediate fire from the time the Korean War started two years ago. All veterans of Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines or Coast Guard, who are now out of service and who may be entitled to pay under these benefits must make application on DD Form 387, prescribed for this purpose. These forms may be obtained from Lawson Roper at the Fulton Post Office.

Qualifications for combat pay ($45.00 per month) are specified as follows:

1. Service in Korea or adjacent waters does not in itself qualify an individual to combat pay. To be qualified for combat pay during a month the individual:

a. Must have served with a combat unit and been actually under hostile fire or actually subjected to explosion for not less than six days during the month, or one or more days during the month included within a period of not less than six CONSECUTIVE days beginning in the preceding month; or

b. Must have been killed, injured, wounded, captured or missing in action while serving with a combat unit. Combat pay continues for not more than three months during hospitalization after the month in which injured or wounded in action. Combat pay continues for not more than three months after entering a captured or missing status while such status continues.

2. Individual may not receive for the same month both combat pay and incentive or special pay such as flying, demolition, parachute, submarine, medical, dental, etc.

Commissioner of Economic Security Vego Barnes announced he new veterans' jobless insurance program for Korean War veterans will be administered through the Division of Unemployment Insurance of the Department of Economic Security.
